------------------------	-----------------	---------------	-----	---------	---------------------

PS-1	a metro passenger / commuter	book a metro ticket quickly, select my source and destination, make a digital payment, and receive a QR-based digital ticket	the ticket booking process can involve waiting, manual steps, unclear fare information, and delays before I receive my ticket	ticket booking, fare calculation, payment, and ticket generation may not be handled through one simple automated process	frustrated and inconvenienced because I want a fast, reliable, and accessible way to complete my metro journey
PS-2	a metro ticketing / operations staff member	process passenger ticket requests accurately, calculate the correct fare, generate digital tickets, and keep passengers informed	manual processing can increase workload and create opportunities for fare, booking, ticket-generation, and communication errors	ticket requests, fare calculation, digital ticket generation, notifications, and booking records may require repetitive manual coordination	overloaded and concerned about delays, errors, and inconsistent passenger service
